

UUFWC NEWSLETTER: JUNE 2022

Upcoming Services

Our weekly Worship Services are in person on Sunday mornings at 10am or watch the service on YouTube Live. LINK to our YouTube channel A recording is made available through the Google Groups email, later that day.

Our theme for June is "Celebrating Blessings"

June 5th - "Liberal Who, Me? No, I'm a UU" [Rev. James McNeal]

What does your grammar checker do with "Unitarian Universalist?" What does Unitarian Universalist mean? What do we all believe? What unifies us all? There must be some quality among us that each of us points to. As I conclude my Unitarian Universalist History course, it is my final project to determine the answer and bring it to you June 5th. Not only will I search for the truth for us today, but what has been the true binding thread among Unitarians and Universalists from before we were named Unitarian, Universalist or Unitarian Universalist. The Choir will sing.

June 12th - "Family Pride" [Clark]

Ever wonder why Pride month is in June and not during other months? Rev. Walter talks about the history of LGBTQ Pride, the strength of the LGBTQ community and what lessons it teaches us. Enjoy tunes by the Folk Orchestra.

June 19th - "The Gift of the Longest Day" [Delgadillo]

Summer Solstice is upon us. We will continue our journey of "intentional living" and discovering the gifts the longest daylight of the year can offer to us. The Choir will sing.

June 26th - TBD

Watch Friday emails for more information.

Minister's Meditations

From Rev. Walter Clark

In the wake of two mass shootings, I have been thinking a lot about the phrase “Thoughts and Prayers. It’s a phrase that seems to really annoy many of us who don’t pray very often and it is especially annoying in the face of multiple tragedies that seem to have a simple enough of a solution: get rid of guns.

I don’t want to debate the issue of gun reform. We could talk for hours about red flag laws, gun registries, assault weapons bans and a total repeal of the second amendment. We could talk about the fact that the majority of gun deaths are suicides (54%) and murders (43%), that 79% of all murders in the United States involve a hand gun and why it might be a bad idea to have near instant killing machines readily available. We could discuss the fact that the firearms murder rate disproportionally effects young black men, making this very much a racial justice issue. We can talk about the fact that the automatic assault weapons are not responsible for most gun deaths. Instead, handguns account for the majority of gun murders. I want to talk about “thoughts and prayers” and to be an advocate for them.

What is so often lost when discussing thoughts and prayers is the intention behind it. More often than not, it is used as a deflection device by those in power, to make it seem like a senator or congressperson has more of an emotional investment in an issue than they actually do. It is often the first, last and only step some folks take when dealing with tragedy. Say a prayer and move on.

That is not the job of prayer, at least not the types of prayers that need to be said after two different 18-year-old men in two different cities murder a total of 31 people. I found a great little quote about this type of prayer on Facebook (of all places.) It said, “You shall not use God’s name in vain is not about cursing. It’s for blasphemy like using prayer to hide why you won’t pass laws to stop kids dying.” It a time of crisis, thoughts and prayers can be the first step to making change. In her book on prayer Help, Thanks, Wow Anne Lamont says, “Sometimes the first time we pray, we cry out in the deepest desperation, “God help me.” this is a great prayer, as we are then at our absolutely most degraded and isolated, which means we are nice and juicy with the consequences of our best thinking and are thus possibly teachable.” These prayers in the midst of tragedy are a time to reflect on our situation and to allow the better parts of ourselves to urge us to better action. By saying, “thoughts and prayers” you are saying “I am going to allow myself to feel the full pain of this moment. I will use that pain to motivate me to make a change. I will allow this tragedy to change me.”

I encourage all of you to use your thoughts and prayers to make some change. Write a letter to your representative demanding they do something with their thoughts and prayers. Write an OP-ED to your local paper. You may even want to run for local office! Take time to let this tragedy change you. Then act.

Middle Church @mi... · 51m ...

“You shall not use God’s name in vain” is not about cursing.

It’s for blasphemy like using prayer to hide why you won’t pass laws to stop kids dying.

Please join us on Sunday, June 12th shortly after the service for this approximately 45-minute, informative session. If interested, contact the membership coordinator: Karen.uufwc@gmail.com.

Women's Lunch Group, June 14, 12:30pm

Our women's group had a delightful BYO lunch in May on our UUFWC north patio. We will continue to meet there on the second Tuesday of each month unless the weather is inclement. When needed, we will meet in the Large Group Room. All UUFWC women are welcome with or without your lunch. We have no agenda except to chat, share, laugh and enjoy each other's company. Any questions can be directed to Karen.uufwc@gmail.com.

Coffee!!!!

We now have the supplies, the volunteers, the team leaders, and a working dishwasher, so delightful conversation briefly aligned with the beverage "hour" until masking started up again. Regardless, please give special thanks to Vickie and Mike – our non-coffee drinking team leaders!! Coffee WILL be back.

UUFWC's Garage Sale Coming in July

Our annual fundraiser is set for Friday July 29th and Saturday July 30th, located at the fellowship in Strawn Hall. The garage sale is open to the community and proceeds benefit the general operating fund.

Without the help of UU members and friends this sale would not be possible. Here are a few ways to help contribute to a successful 2022 sale:

- DONATE: Donations of household goods, electronics in working order, books, toys, furniture, jewelry, home decor, craft supplies, sporting goods, antiques and unique items are appreciated. We do not sell clothes at the garage sale. Donations will be accepted beginning Sunday July 10th through Monday July 25th.
- VOLUNTEER: Volunteer opportunities are available on Sunday July 24th following the service to set up tables in Strawn Hall. Monday July 25th thru Thursday July 28th 5:30-8pm to organize and price donated items. During the sale to assist shoppers, cashiers needed to collect payment, and persons to help load items for patrons. After the sale on Saturday July 30th at 1pm, clean up crew. All left over items from the sale are placed in bins provided by Goodwill. Books are donated to AAUW sale.
- SPREAD THE WORD: Let friends, family, and co-workers know about the sale. Garage sale flyers will be available beginning June 26th, please share at work and at community locations.

Dust off your yard signs! If you have a yard sign in storage please put it up Sunday July 24th. If you have a yard sign but don't plan to use it please return it to the UU so we can find another home for it. If you don't have a sign and would like one let us know!

Contact Erin Palmer with questions, volunteer opportunities, and yard sign info at (330)465-7043 or ebbosley@hotmail.com

All of who you are is sacred. All of who you are is welcome.

Library News

Submitted by Kay Bowen, UUFWC Librarian

New to our UUFWC library:

DEFUND FEAR: SAFETY WITHOUT POLICING, PRISONS, AND PUNISHMENT By Zack Norris
363.10973 Norr 2020

“As the effects of aggressive policing and mass incarceration harm historically marginalized communities and tear families apart, how do we define safety? In a time when the most powerful institutions in the United States are embracing the repressive and racist systems that keep many communities struggling and in fear, we need to reimagine what safety means.

Community leader and lawyer Zack Norris lays out a radical way to shift the conversation about public safety away from fear and punishment and toward growth and support systems for our families and communities. In order to truly be safe, we are going to have to dismantle our mentality of Us vs. Them. By bridging the divides and building relationships with one another, we can dedicate ourselves to strategic, smart investments – meaning resources directed toward our stability and well-being, like healthcare and housing, education and living-wage jobs. This is where real safety begins.

Defund Fear is a blueprint of how to hold people accountable while still holding them in community. The result reinstates full humanity and agency for everyone who has been dehumanized and traumatized, so they can participate fully in life, in society, and in the fabric of our democracy.” Quote from the website of inSpirit: UUA Book and Gift Shop

This book was chosen as the 2021-2022 UUA Common Read. According to our inSpirit bookstore, “The Common Read invites participants to read and discuss the same book in a given period of time. A Common Read can build community in our congregations and our movement by giving diverse people a shared experience, shared language, and a basis for deep meaningful conversations.” Discussion materials are now available from the bookstore.

Social Action

Submitted by Betty Schuler, of the Social Action Committee

IT’S BACK the MAGAZINE RACK is hung and filled with magazines and newsletters from a wide variety of social justice organizations. No longer in the rear of Strawn Hall, you’ll find it in our new library just inside the door above the typewriter.

Recently, issues of the following publications were in the rack: Audubon, National Wildlife, Nature’s Voice (Natural Resources Defense Council) Public Citizen, Millie (the Sustainability Issue), Friends of Wooster

Memorial Park Newsletter, Nature (The Nature Conservancy), Quaker Action (American Friends Service Committee), Solutions (Environmental Defense Fund), SPLC Report (Southern Poverty Law Center.)

Take any items that interest you – no need to return them. Contribute any social justice publications you may wish to pass on. Check out the magazine rack and while you're in the library, check out the wide variety of books and publications available for you to borrow.

IT'S COMING JUNETEENTH, our newest national holiday, signed into law by President Biden in 2021 as Juneteenth National Independence Day, will be celebrated on June 19th (since that day is a Sunday, the legal holiday will be on Monday, June 20th.) The holiday, long celebrated by African Americans in the U.S., recognizes June 19, 1865, when many enslaved people in Texas learned they had been freed.

Although President Abraham Lincoln had signed the Emancipation Proclamation two years earlier, it could not be enforced in many places until after the end of the Civil War in April, 1865. Two months after Confederate General Robert E. Lee surrendered, Union Major General Gordon Granger and his troops arrived in Galveston, Texas, with the news that the war had ended and that the enslaved were now free.

The Wooster/Orrville Chapter of the NAACP has big plans for the first celebration of this new national holiday. On Sunday, June 19th, there will be a gathering on Wooster Public Square. On Monday, June 20th, a cookout will be held at Christmas Run Park. Further details about both events will be shared on the googlegroup as soon as it becomes available.

Landscape

Submitted by Ruth Sewell for the Outdoor Facilities (Landscape) Committee

The committee would like to thank the two dozen people who brought a delicious potluck, and then wreaked miracles on the landscape around the building. You will be amazed at the improvement!

We will be adding more beds, begin the children's play area, and cleaning up the driveway entry over the summer. We plan to meet at noon, after the service on the second Sunday of each month. Grab a lunch, your tools and gloves, and your wheelbarrow and join the (actual) fun!

Monarch Joint Venture

Submitted by Betty Schuler for "All Things Green"

Then Monarch Joint Venture (MJV) is a partnership of federal and state agencies, non-governmental organizations, businesses and academic programs working together to protect the monarch butterfly migration across the United States. Its mission is to protect monarchs and their migration by collaboration with partners to deliver habitat conservation, education, and science across the United States. The MJV website is www.monarchjointventure.org.

Monarch butterflies cannot survive without milkweed; their caterpillars only eat milkweed plants (Asclepias spp.), and monarch butterflies need milkweed to lay their eggs. With shifting land management practices, much milkweed has been lost from the landscape. Please plant milkweed to support monarch populations, and their incredible migration. Planting milkweed is a great way to help other pollinators too, as they provide valuable nectar resources to a diverse suite of bees and butterflies.

Adult monarchs will drink the nectar of many flowers in addition to milkweed; in fact they need sources of nectar to nourish them throughout the entire growing season. Include a variety of native flowering species with different bloom times to provide monarchs with the food they need to reproduce in the spring and summer and to migrate in the fall. Offering a wide array of native nectar plants will attract monarchs and many other butterflies and pollinators to your garden all season long.

Wooster Bike Crew

Submitted by Martin Lubell

One of the teenagers in the Wooster Bike Crew, Eric Snider, led the Wooster Bike Party through new areas of Wooster, which included the steep slope of Portage Road. The Wooster Bike Party is always on the 2nd Friday of every month, meeting at the UU at 6:30pm, and leaving at 7:00pm.

The crew is still looking for extra help setting up and managing our tools in the Wooster Bike Workshop.

The Wooster Bike Compost has been working with the Fred.Michel.Lab at OARDC (now CFAES: College of Food, Agricultural and Environmental Sciences.) About 6 of our 14 families who are in our Wooster Bike Compost Network are supplying their compost for a CFAES experiment that is going to see how bio-degradable different "said-biodegradable" wrappings or containers are? (like the tea bag containers that seem like they are plastic!?) The end of the school year was hectic, so we resorted to using the CFAES pickup trucks instead of the bikes. Thanks to Magda, especially!

Participants with limited mobility engage in poses and stretches that are gentle on the body but that help gain strength, flexibility, and balance. Classes will be taught by Debora Galaz, a 200-hour certified yoga teacher with a specialized license for Sitting Chair Yoga. Suggested donation $5.

Join the Wooster Bike Party on the 2nd Friday of every month. Meet at 5pm at the UUFWC for a different ride each time. We will adapt the bike ride to who is riding with us, it does not have to be difficult. Some of the Wooster Bike Crew accompany the guest riders in case there are mechanical or tire issues along the route. All welcome!
